Annexation upheld Madison gains control of landfill, bridge

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The annexation of more than 600 acres on Chouteau Island by the City of Madison was upheld in court Wednesday.

Circuit Judge John DeLaurenti dismissed a suit challenging the law that enabled the city to annex the land.

The ruling could mean further annexations by the city. It also shifts siting authority for the Chain of Rocks landfill from the county to the city.

DeLaurenti said he saw "potential problems" with the legislation and was not "terribly excited" about the way it was written but said Assistant State's Attorney Nelson Metz did not provide enough evidence to overcome the presumption that the legislation was valid.

In October 1996 the city of Madison annexed approximately 640 acres on the lower half of Chouteau Island. The actual annexations involved eight individual tracts of land, all owned by Waste Management Inc.

Later, Madison County State's Attorney Bill Raine filed a complaint seeking to block that annexation, saying the action was unconstitutional. The case had been delayed since December because DeLaurenti had been ill.

DeLaurenti entered a directed verdict in favor of the city after about four hours of arguments by Metz and Madison City Attorney Casper Nighohossian.

As the plaintiff, the state brought only one witness — Planning and Zoning worker Carla Bollman, who was questioned about a map of the area admitted into evidence.

After Bollman left the stand, Metz rested his case and Nighohossian asked DeLaurenti for a directed verdict dismissing the case.

In his arguments for the dismissal, Nighohossian said both statute and case law gave the State's Attorney's office a "heavy burden" to prove that the law was unconstitutional, and that Metz had provided no such evidence. Metz countered by saying that the law was unconstitutional because it was a special legislation to benefit only one municipality — Madison. Such legislation is barred by the state's constitution.

The legislation allowing the annexations was part of an amendment by State Sen. Evelyn Bowles, D-Edwardsville, to another bill.

Despite the Republican-controlled legislature, she was able to add an amendment to an existing bill to allow the annexations.

The amendment allows a municipality in a county of more than 250,000 people bordered by the Mississippi River with property on both the

Superfund cleanup shifting to companies

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

Five companies held liable for contaminating portions of the Granite City area signed a letter of intent this week to assume cleanup duties from the EPA.

The Environmental Protection Agency announced this week they have reached a tentative agreement with the five companies, while they continue to negotiate a more formal agreement called a consent decree.

The businesses will be arranging the cleanup effort rather than the federal agency leading efforts through various contractors.

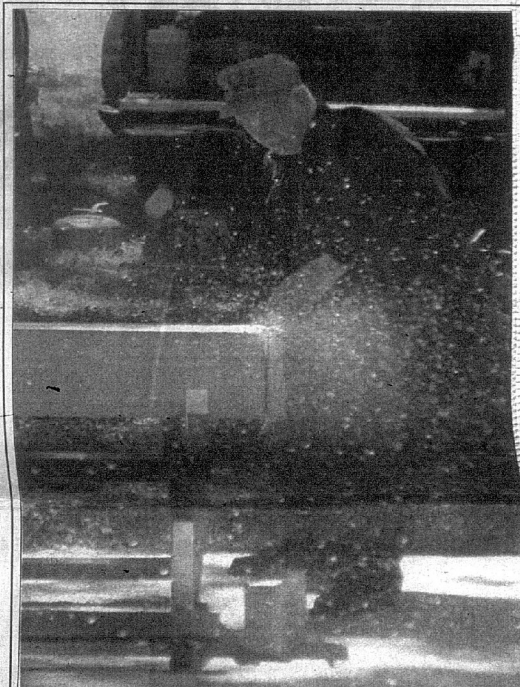

Sheri Bianchini, one of the remedial project managers for the cleanup, said the final agreement almost is complete with the companies that generated the contamination but not with the owner-operator, NL Taracorp.

"That's not settled yet," she said. The costs of the cleanup, which the EPA will recover 100 percent from all parties involved, is split roughly between the generators and the owner-operator.

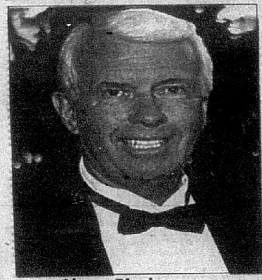

From the generators, she said, "the EPA would be getting the work, plus a cash payment of up to $30 million, plus $400,000 in penalties and $2

Man cultivates business here Former farmer named association boss in trucking industry

By Larry Ingram
Correspondent

Glenn Riechmann personifies the American dream. As a farmer in the fields of Alhambra, Riechmann knew his corn, soybeans, wheat and clover.

Then the farmer became a hauler, and Riechmann will now represent the trucking industry as president of the Specialized Carriers and Rigging Association.

Riechmann, owner of Riechmann Transport Inc., is surprised at how he came to head an industry of heavy haulers and crane and rigging companies.

"I didn't run out and campaign," Riechmann said. "I started out on committees and worked my way up."

As president, he will represent a trade association serving 1,000 companies and 34 nations.

"It's a pretty big honor. Everybody is proud of me," he said. He never thought of his farming and transportation enterprises as two separate careers but rather as a nice balance between two favorite hobbies.

Early on, Riechmann considered a career in the construction industry, but the balance wasn't there.

Farming and construction didn't go together as well because when it rains, you can't do either," he said.

Riechmann started his company with his wife, Joyce, as an iron and steel hauler when he bought a one-state truck permit authority in 1969 while simultaneously running his farm and driving for an auto transport company.

With a fleet of two trucks, the couple started Riechmann Truck Service. The company found big customers with two large steel mills and an auto plant in Granite City.

Before long, Riechmann could be found "driving truck" more often than working his fields.

Then their hauling business hit a snag.

"I started hauling for Laclede Steel in Madison and Granite City Steel," Riechmann said. "But they closed Laclede down in Madison. So then we started hauling interstate (across state lines)."

His big break came in the early 1970s when a local railroad abandoned a section of rail through

Utility ends voluntary conservation Attorney general files complaint with ICC against Illinois Power

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

Illinois Power seems to be beating the high temperatures and energy crunch in supplying its customers with electricity, but now the utility is taking heat from the state attorney general.

The utility was able to lift its latest request for a "Conservation Day" on Tuesday, thanks to emergency repairs bringing a unit at the Baldwin Power Station back on line. During a Conservation Day, IP asks customers to limit their electrical use between the hours of 10 a.m. and 9 p.m. — especially during the afternoon hours, when energy demands peak.

IP, like many other energy providers in the Midwest, has strained to meet energy needs due to the high heat and humidity, company representatives have said. Also, IP's Clinton nuclear power plant has been off line since 1996.

On Tuesday, Attorney General Jim Ryan filed a complaint with the Illinois Commerce Commission against Illinois Power, claiming the utility is in violation of the Illinois Public Utilities Act.

Ryan said that IP failed to put in place adequate and reliable rules and practices, failed to provide services and facilities constituting the least expensive means of meeting obligations and conducted management functions imprudently and inefficiently, thereby affecting the adequacy, efficiency and reliability of the service.

"Consumers have a right to know they will receive continuous, reliable electric service even during peak demand periods in the heat of summer or the bitter cold of winter,"

Ryan said in a prepared statement. Ryan claimed that IP has failed to correct the problems at the Clinton power plant, a facility that potentially can produce about 21 percent of IP's capacity.

"Customers have cooperated by reducing their consumption of power, but they should not be asked to make continual sacrifices simply because the utility is operating inefficiently," Ryan said.

However, Illinois Power apparently is addressing that concern. On Wednesday, officials with the company were to file a plan with the ICC for reducing the August bills for all residential electric customers in appreciation of their conservation efforts this summer.

The one-time rate reduction intended to give more than 500,000 residential customers a two-week

Will the real Salvi ever reveal himself?

Al Salvi just can't seem to get anything right. Salvi, the Republican candidate for secretary of state, was in the news again the other day for mailing a fund-raising letter to secretary of state employees.

The letter included clearly numbered fund-raising tickets — this better to track them with Salvi's mailer sent the unmistakable message that as their possible future employer, he hoped they had enough sense to buy a ticket or two. The tactic was so brazen that even fellow Republicans George Ryan, the current secretary of state and Gov. Jim Edgar, a former secretary of state, both criticized the letter.

I've known Salvi since his time in the Illinois legislature. I'm pretty sure that the guy usually means well. He's a very pleasant human being in person. His sunny disposition and easy manner have even reminded some people of Ronald Reagan.

But his political career reads like a veritable guidebook of how not to win elections. Yeah, he's won a couple of primaries, but lost them all. In 1996, and if Salvi doesn't change his ways, he could very well lose again this fall.

You undoubtedly remember the 1996 comedy of errors when Salvi won the U.S. Senate Republican primary, beating the Republican establishment's chosen candidate, only to be clobbered by liberal Democrat Dick Durbin in the fall. Salvi never moved to the center, leaving tons of votes for Durbin to vacuum up.

Then, there was his incredibly stupid and false allegation about how Durbin had a beloved gun control advocate, had a license to sell weapons. That one comment showed breathtaking levels of political immaturity and rigid dogmatism, and the voters overwhelming rejected him. After licking his deep wounds, Salvi decided to reinvent himself. He announced that he was dropping his opposition to the "Brady Bill," the federal gun control law he once so thoroughly hated. And why did he change his mind?

Rich Miller

Because, he explained, the law was popular with voters and a fact of life, so even though he still opposed it, he didn't see any reason to fight it. The hard-line, right-winger all of a sudden looked like he had no core beliefs.

Salvi went on to win this year's Republican primary for secretary of state. His opponent never put up a credible fight, allowing Salvi to coast on his high name recognition in a low-turnout race.

But his many blunders, combined with the company he has kept, have had effect on his electability. A recent newspaper poll found that Salvi's negatives are just as high as U.S. Sen. Carol Moseley-Braun's — a whopping 34 percent. Moseley-Braun has had six years to screw up her career, compared to just two for Salvi (at least give him credit for having come a long way fast).

There's a general rule of thumb about negative campaigns: Candidates who attack their opponents will always drive up their own negative ratings. Those who start off with high negative ratings should probably try to stay as positive as possible, not only to avoid pushing their ratings up even higher but to also try to actually bring the nasty things down a bit.

But, not long after the primary last spring, Salvi accused Democratic opponent Jesse White of funneling money from his world-famous Jesse White Tumblers to his political campaign. White quickly produced a letter from the state attorney general's office (See FACTS, Page 5A)

Please obey stop signs

It's 10 after 3 in the afternoon, and Earth Brooks is singing the final chorus of "Friends in Low Places" as you reach toward your radio dial.

I am sure that you, like almost everyone else, hate to listen to radio advertisements. As you eagerly start to press the channel selection knobs on your radio, you approach the intersection of 20th and State Street.

You look in front of you to see the Madison County Transit bus turning, so you stop. After a brief glimpse around, you notice that there is no one in front of you. You slightly step on the gas pedal of your car, and start scanning the fields when you are suddenly stopped by the sound of metal screeching and are thrown against the side of your car. What just happened? Where did the other car come from? Does the other person have insurance? A million questions run through your head.

This situation is all too common in Granite City. Many who have seen this happen refer to it as the Granite City Roll. Where I grew up, a stop sign was a stop sign, meaning that you stop.

Today's society of pushers and movers has gotten a little empty-headed when it comes to the rules of the road. Believe me, I am trying hard not to be hypocritical concerning this because I have done it a few times myself, however, the situation has gotten a little out of control.

Since I moved here, I have seen at least 10 accidents throughout the city. I am suspicious, but not qualified to state for fact, that quite a few of these accidents were the result of the all-too-famous Granite City Roll.

Most people do not weigh the consequences when doing this. They put their own lives, as well as the lives of others, in jeopardy just to get to their destination a few seconds sooner. When will it end?

The next time you or anyone is at a stop sign, remember to stop for both ways.

Is it really worth the few seconds? They could change your life.

District deserves recognition for Fourth

TO THE EDITOR, Congratulations are in order for the Granite City Park Board, Mr. Dave Polivik and the entire staff of the park district for the impressive performance of the Fourth of July.

I'm sure that the thousands of people at the attendance, including those from neighboring communities, were as impressed as my family was with the magnitude of this event.

For a community the size of Granite City to put on a show such as that on the Coolidge campus speaks well as to how our park district is being operated. The park district continues to be one of the best selling features of our community and should be appreciated by all of us who live here.

Thanks for Mitchell coverage

TO THE EDITOR, I wish to thank you and your reporters for presenting the news of the Mitchell incorporation issue in a factual, professional and unbiased manner.

This controversy has promoted allegations, accusations, arguments and untruths. The matter is not settled, but we are one step closer with the approval of the Mitchell map by the Madison County Board. This victory shows that a relatively small group with the support of people from Mitchell and the surrounding communities can make a difference.

We used newsletters, public meetings and signs to promote our causes, but you listened to us. You reported our concerns and complaints. Without you, our message would not have been heard.

"The issue is far from being settled. Both we and our opponents will pursue our goals. I hope that you will continue to cover the story in a fair and factual manner. Thank you."

Church leads by example

TO THE EDITOR, I am writing this letter to thank the men and women of my church, The Good Shepherd United Methodist Church on National Avenue here in Granite City.

I am very grateful for what they have done for me, and I think they have two more widows' homes to work on. They painted my house and fixed everything that needed fixing. They came early Saturday morning and finished just after noon. The women made and served lunch for them. They seemed to really enjoy doing the work.

There are really so many widows and elderly people here in town who cannot do these things for themselves. There are 96 churches here in town. They could take a hint from this little church and go to work. Our mayor was on TV telling people to clean up their yards and homes, so let's all get busy.

Poem expresses senior concerns

TO THE EDITOR,

I wrote the following poem, based on the concerns of a bewildered senior citizen. The concerns were expressed in a letter she wrote to the County Homes' Action Committee, with which I volunteer.

I found the letter among some papers and was inspired to write the poem. In her letter, the senior citizen said she worries about the possible closure of the Madison County Nursing Home and the Sheltered Care Home.

I think the poem voices the sentiments of many of our elderly when thinking of their future welfare.

Eviction incident a shame

Here it is the Fourth of July — what has happened to our country, to our veterans, when on the Fourth of July one of our American Vietnam veterans was evicted from his apartment because of falling on hard times? He was evicted by a landlord who is a prominent construction owner on the very day that our country was built on. Does the Constitution not say life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness? What has happened to our country when concern over shelter for dogs and cats takes precedence over humanity and helping those very people who fought for our country?

Bid spurs questions

City Council clashes over cost of bridge

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

Approval of a bid for the next step in development of the Granite City Industrial Park prompted a larger City Council discussion. At its regular meeting Tuesday night, council members approved an $81,844 bid by CD Peters of Granite City for construction of a bridge for the rail spur, also under construction, that will service the industrial park. CD Peters' bid wasn't the lowest.

Alderman Casmer Skubish did not vote for the bid's approval because he considered it to be an excessive bid.

"I'm not opposed to contractors or construction companies, but I am opposed to 'complementary' bids, which has been done frequently in the past," Skubish said.

He said some contractors often put in figures that are not realistic or sincere. He further said that the accepted bid for the bridge was $18,000 over the engineer's estimate that was needed for the job. Dan Brown, the city's economic development director, said the bid originally was estimated at $100,000. "The lower estimate came in because we were trying to do it without doing test piling or boring (into the ground) because there was another bridge that went into feed the rail line going into Tri-City Port that was 50 feet away, and we assumed the water company would not make us do the (tests)," he said. "But, the water company is making us do the tests as is the railroad."

Brown emphasized to the council the importance of completing this project on time. Twenty-one days of the 45 days needed for the project will be used for the ground testing, and that's the reason it came in over the what the engineer's estimate was originally, he said.

If the council rejected the bid, the city would be running close to the deadline for preparing the industrial site for the opening of Midwest Metal Coatings, already under construction. Rejection could force the city to be behind in its agreements with Midwest Metal and possibly force the city to assume the costs of damages to the company.

"We're trying to coordinate three different contractors in a very small space," Brown said.

Alderman Craig Tarpoff told Skubish if he had evidence of complementary bidding, he should bring it forth to the council, especially at the time of approving a bid.

Skubish responded by saying that if any council member's prerogative if they think something is excessive to state is as such.

City Attorney Keith Jensen said the city did not have to accept the lowest bid for anything.

"You determine what is the best and proper bid," he said. Jensen said he would provide the council with a full written opinion on the matter.

head start on the 15 percent rate reduction set to begin Aug. 1 under the provisions of the state's utility deregulation.

The August bills are expected to be lowered by $7.5 million for residential and small commercial electric customers.

Officials also are planning a conservation initiative aimed at its largest customers to deal with emergency power supply problems this summer.

Charles Bayless, Illinois Power chief executive officer, said his company would further enhance the reliability of its system by bringing units at the Havana plant out of cold storage, which is expected to provide an additional 150 megawatts of power by the end of July and another 100 megawatts by mid-August.

"The Havana plants will provide an extra margin of safety, but we believe, at least in the short term, that we would still have to rely on our customers' help again should we encounter a situation similar to the one we had in June," he said.

Over the long term, however, he said the expected reactivation of the Clinton power plant late this year will greatly increase the power supply and the company's reliability.

Santa's Holiday Avenue to expand

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

In advance preparation for the 1998 Christmas season, the Granite City Council allocated $11,000 to help light up the downtown area.

The money, an increase of $1,000 over 1997, comes from the downtown tax increment financing district to support this year's Santa's Holiday Avenue.

Alderman Kim McTaggart said the increase is to help the Santa's Holiday Avenue Committee decorate the War Memorial park across from St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

City Council support is essential. The funds are intended as seed money to be built upon with donations from businesses and residents who want to help downtown come alive during the winter.

The celebration includes a parade, decorations, lights and the Santa House in the park at Niedringhaus Avenue and 20th Street. Decorations will also cover the Madison Avenue gazebo.

Last year's first-ever Santa's Holiday Avenue proved popular with residents as thousands came downtown to visit Santa and listen to carols and enjoy the festive atmosphere.

At the committee's meeting July 15 for this coming Christmas, members announced that cookbooks are on sale for $5 at Jack and Jill's Furniture, 1261 Niedringhaus, and The Patio restaurant, 1308 Niedringhaus. They will be available at other locations later.

Proceeds will support the purchase and upkeep of decorations. For the parade that will bring Santa Claus to the Santa House, members announced prizes for the best floats of $500 for first place, $250 for second and $100 for third.

Police nab 2 suspects in botched robbery

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

Two area juvenile girls were arrested Friday for attempted armed robbery.

According to Granite City Police reports, the girls, one from Madison and one from Venice, hailed a Checker Cab around 5:30 p.m. Friday at Third Street and Madison Avenue in Madison. They told the driver they were going to Kmart in Granite City.

One of the suspects allegedly told the driver she wanted to first make a stop at the public aid office in American Village before going to Kmart. As the driver pulled into the south end of the parking lot, the girl sitting behind him said, "This is a robbery." She leaned over his left shoulder and sprayed his face with mace, according to reports.

The driver accelerated, left the parking lot and drove south on Nameoki with the two suspects still inside. He contacted his dispatcher and said he was being robbed. When the driver got caught in traffic, the two suspects jumped out.

Responding Granite City police found the driver on the Nameoki Bingo Center parking lot, where he told police he was robbed.

An officer saw one suspect running south. The officer gave chase and caught her. He then spotted the other suspect 30 yards away attempting to hide behind a pillar. He ordered the suspect out at gunpoint and took her into custody.

The two have been remanded to the Madison County Juvenile Detention Center. Other than being maced, the driver was uninjured.

County association meets today

This association represents all 24 townships within Madison County and provides information and speakers to keep officials updated on legislation and procedures that help them serve their townships more effectively.

Q: I was in an auto accident, and may have neck and back injuries... but I'm not sure. What should I do?

A: Often the occupants in an automobile may be hurt much worse than would be suspected upon viewing the vehicular damage. If there is any possibility you may be hurt, you should be examined by a doctor who uses state of the art motion and strength testing methods to determine the extent of an injury, should there be one. All too often accident victims view the aches and pains they have as insignificant. Untreated spinal injuries are a leading cause of arthritis and disc disease. Don't let this happen to you.

mainland and the island to bypass federally owned land to annex other property on the island.

According to Nighohossian, because the approval of all interested governmental bodies, including the county and Granite City, would have been required to annex the federal land, all municipalities were effectively blocked from annexing because Madison County officials would never approve the annexation.

In their arguments, the attorneys talked in part about the motives of both the county and city for wanting the land.

At the time of the annexation, city officials said the reason for the annexation was to help Trailnet Inc. renovate the Old Chain of Rocks Bridge as a pedestrian-bicycle trail.

Metz said the real reason the city wanted the land was to control the landfill. That control would also include the ability to create a host agreement bringing income to the city and also the authority to approved expansion of the landfill.

In the mid-1980s, a similar situation occurred when Laidlaw sought expansion of the Barton Landfill. When the county balked at approving the expansion, the company asked the city of Roxana to annex it and approved the expansion. Officials also said there would be "intense discussions" about what will happen to the county's landfill fees.

Those fees — approximately $1 million per year, according to Madison city officials — could be halted by the city when the new host agreement is in place.

Several city officials said the decision on whether to cut off the county depends heavily on if Wednesday's decision is appealed.

The State's Attorney's office has 30 days to appeal the case, which would go directly to the Illinois Supreme Court, according to Nighohossian.

million to address lead-based paint abatement, what we call supplemental environmental projects."

The EPA prefers the companies do the cleanup themselves.

The incentives for a company to assume cleanup duties includes lower labor costs because the company doesn't have the same labor regulations as the EPA. Plus, the company won't have to repay as much to the EPA.

So far, the EPA has spent $38 million on the cleanup. The figure would be much higher if the agency were to complete the cleanup itself.

The cleanup work will continue as before, except that OHM Remediation Services won't be performing residential property cleanup duties.

Entact will assume residential cleanup. The contractor was the choice of the five companies, which were allowed to bid out the work, Bianchin said.

As of June, 775 residential yards have been cleaned with another 450 to be done by June 1999. The Army Corps of Engineers has direct, daily oversight of the cleanup, with the EPA checking in weekly.

Also, the EPA has cleaned approximately 100 yards and alleys in Venice and Eagle Park Acres, where battery chips were used as fill material.

Cleanup and capping of the Taracorp pile also is expected to begin soon. The pile will be covered with a synthetic material, dirt and plants, all designed to keep water runoff from mixing with the pile.

nearby towns of Alhambra and Marine, allowing Riechmann to begin piecing together an interstate permitting authority long before deregulation brought an end to the authority system.

"What you could do is tack these authorities together," he said. "In other words, if Granite City Steel take it to Marine or Alhambra and interline with another sub of my authority and then head for California."

Riechmann recalls the days before the trucking industry deregulated.

"Back then the authority would be worth a lot of money," he said. "And it cost you a lot of money to get it. You even had to pay big fees to attorneys, and then people would protest it. Now, if you got $50, you fill out an application and you got it."

Riechmann Transport has stayed the course through deregulation. By 1997, the company bought a number of low-boy trailers and began curving a new niche in specialized loads in addition to flatbed hauling.

It has reached $20 million in sales revenue with 130 company-owned tractors, 55 owner-operators and more than 300 trailers.

Riechmann Transport is headquartered at 3328 W. Chain of Rocks Road, with hubs in Blytheville, Ark. and Gary, Ind.

Riechmann is also known for an excellent safety record — it won several SC&RA awards — and its driver retention program.

"You need to keep the family involved because if the wife doesn't like what her husband is doing, you have a problem," he said. "We have quarterly safety meetings for drivers, and then the first part of December, we have a safety awards banquet."

"We also had a truck rodeo last year for the whole family with games and prizes for the kids. That's what you have to do to motivate employees to retain them," he said.

And that brings us back to the fund-raiser flap. Candidates with high negatives should probably try to reassure people somehow that they're not a threat. Instead, Salvi used high-handed tactics and got called on it.

In a way, it's unfortunate that the voters don't know Salvi the way I do. They might actually like him enough to vote for him. Unfortunately, Salvi never lets that side of himself show, and that mistake could cost him yet another important election.

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED
Attorney At Law

A person's driver's license may be suspended or revoked for a variety of reasons. Illinois law provides that a person who drives a motor vehicle on the highways of this state at a time when his license is suspended or revoked shall be guilty of a Class A misdemeanor. In some cases, the question is raised as to what constitutes a "motor vehicle" for the purposes of violating this law.

In one recent case in Du Page County, the State indicted a defendant for driving while his license was revoked. In this case, the defendant was driving an all-terrain vehicle (ATV) on a public street in Bensenville, Illinois. His license had previously been revoked because of earlier convictions of driving under the influence of alcohol.

The defendant in this case filed a motion to dismiss the indictment. He argued that the statute prohibited being in actual physical control of a "motor vehicle" while one's driver's license is suspended or revoked. He felt that the ATV he was driving was not a "motor vehicle" as defined by the Illinois Vehicle Code. The trial court in this case agreed and dismissed the indictment. The State of Illinois then filed a notice of appeal.

On appeal, the state argued that the Illinois Vehicle Code defined "motor vehicle" as every vehicle which is self-propelled and every vehicle that is propelled by electric power obtained from overhead trolley wires. The Code excluded vehicles which are moved solely by human power and motorized wheelchairs.

So the question in this case was whether or not the defendant was operating a motor vehicle at the time he was arrested. Certainly if he was riding a bicycle, he could not be charged with driving on a suspended license. However, the Appellate Court felt that the plain language of the statute demonstrated that an ATV is a motor vehicle.

It is apparent that sometimes a person whose driving privileges have been suspended or revoked will attempt to get creative in operating certain vehicles on the public streets of the State of Illinois. A person in this situation needs to be cautious that he is not operating a device which can be considered a "motor vehicle". Poor judgment in this area may result in a charge of driving on a suspended or revoked license.

Local artist opens shop

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

For local artist Tony Johnson, opening up his own business is a dream come true. The artist is already famous locally for painting the mascots for two area high schools, and now he's wanting to share his talent with the world.

Johnson and his family opened the Broken Feather Art and Plaster Crafts at 1822 Niedringhaus in Granite City on July 14. Hours are 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

"I never took painting lessons," said the self-taught Johnson.

An artist in Branson, Mo., had sold some of Johnson's painted plaster statues, some of them around the country. Soon, Johnson's sculptures would become permanent features in a couple of area schools. Last year, he painted the tiger mascot for the new Edwardsville High School. "I was halfway through it and decided to dedicate it to the high school," he said.

He also joined in the celebration for the newly renovated Granite City Senior High School by creating a statue of "The Warrior" mascot.

His 4-foot-high Warrior sits atop the time capsule created by students that is a permanent feature of the high school's atrium, right across from the main office.

Many of the plaster molds come from Italy to Johnson via a family in Chicago, he said. Johnson also has his own molds and often pours his own plaster for them. Broken Feather offers painting classes and private lessons at $10 for two hours and also sells completed and plaster castings. Another artist, Joan Towery, sells her hand-painted oils at Broken Feather.

His family is involved in the business. His wife, Sheryl, manages the store during the day. Call 981-2614 for more information.

"For the kids, I pour them a little (plaster) butterfly or flower for free," he said.

Slater is an athlete for all seasons

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

Robyn Slater is more than a two-sport standout, more than a sporting triple threat.

She is athletic versatility personified.

Slater goes into her senior year at Granite City High School as an athlete who participates in tennis, softball, ice hockey and swimming.

Last year, when she was younger, she also played soccer.

On a typical summer day, Slater has swim practice with the Paddlers Swim Club in the morning, plays tennis in the afternoon, and a swim meet at night. She spends many of

"I love to play sports of any kind, but hockey... takes precedence."

Robyn Slater

her days off at Raging Rivers.

Robyn has events dangling off the calendar from one end of the year to the other. How could she keep such a busy schedule organized?

"I have this huge dry erase board in my room, with a calendar on it to organize everything I do," she said.

"Each sport has a different color so I can keep them straight."

"Any time there's a conflict, I have to go to talk it out with the different coaches. You just have to prioritize."

And there's not much question which comes first for Slater.

"I love to play sports of any kind, but hockey definitely takes precedence. It's the most expensive, so if I miss a practice, that's 20 bucks down the drain."

"I think right now it's my favorite to play, and my best chance to get a scholarship to a good school."

She started playing ice hockey when she was 7 years old.

"My uncles played ice hockey, and they got their sons into it," she said, "and then my cousins got my brothers started, and I have to do everything my brothers do, right?"

"I never really played street hockey until after I had played on the ice. Now we play hall hockey in the hotel when we go on trips, or turn the basement around, throwing couches upside-down to make goals."

She's protective of hockey, especially when anyone proposes the idea that basketball players are the most fit athletes.

"Believe me, I've gotten in a lot of arguments with people over that one," Slater said.

"I've always thought that hockey players are the greatest athletes, with strength, and grace, and power, and balance. No contest."

Slater played this past winter on the Illinois Warriors club hockey team, which was last year's champion of the Mississippi Valley Club Hockey Association in its first season in the league.

The fact Slater plays with a bunch of boys doesn't seem so unique to her.

"I've been playing against boys all my life, my brothers and others," she said.

"Mostly, it's been the same

COACHING CHANGES

McFall takes over Kahoks girls team

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

After serving eight seasons as assistant boys basketball coach at Collinsville High, Steve McFall was hired Monday night to be the Kahoks varsity girls basketball coach for the upcoming season.

He replaces Paul Harrington as head coach. Harrington was dismissed by the Unit 10 school board in May.

It was a difficult decision for McFall to leave the boys program, but he wanted the chance to be a head basketball coach again. Prior to coming to CHS and working as an assistant boys coach, he had two four-year stints as the boys head coach at Duplo High.

"I had wanted to be a head coach again and it still gives me a chance to be around (boys basketball coach) Bobby (Bone) and to work with him," McFall said. "I do enjoy working with Bobby. I consider our friendship special. It was a unique opportunity that came about."

"It's difficult to leave Bob and how closely we have worked these last eight years. The easy part is the ball is still round. The easy thing is I do like Collinsville kids."

McFall takes over a girls team that was 14-14 last season but returns a wealth of talent.

The Kahoks will be loaded with senior talent. Autumn Dow, the team's most valuable player the last two seasons, returns for her fourth season of varsity action. Dow, 6-foot-1, should be one of the top players in the metro area. Twin sisters Adrienne and Lauren Norbury are back. Both played feisty defense and hit big shots from behind the arc.

The junior class is led by forward Any Loftus and guards Angie Parker and Amanda Kirksey. Other returning juniors are Stacy Deluca, Kristin Bronnauer, Danyol Brown, Kristen Seka, Tramiya McNeese, Evelyn Thompson and Sarah Switzer. Two sophomores who saw playing time of the junior varsity level were Rachel Stabenfeldt and Deanne Trost.

"Nobody has a position yet, but I have only seen them once," McFall said. "Tuesday morning, I saw them. I certainly like them. Having Autumn Dow, the two Norbury girls, Loftus, Kirksey, Stabenfeldt and Parker coming back is great. I think they have the ability to play and I'm looking forward to it."

Conflicting practice schedules made it difficult for McFall to see many of the girls games last winter.

"Their practices were right after our (boys) practices, so I got to see them almost every day in a short period of time," said McFall, who also is the Kahoks varsity baseball coach. "I sat around with the other coaches and I know some of them from the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and they are good kids."

Steve McFall, after eight seasons with Collinsville boys basketball, will take the helm of the school's girls program.

Kirgan hired for Collinsville post

After two years as Granite City assistant, he will succeed Portz

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

It is the big break for which Allen Kirgan has been waiting.

After spending two seasons as an assistant wrestling coach at Granite City High, Kirgan recently was named the varsity wrestling coach at Collinsville High.

He replaces George Portz, who was the Kahoks wrestling coach for 17 seasons (242-135-4) before being dismissed by the Unit 10 school board in June.

Kirgan brings a wealth of experience to the Collinsville program. Prior to becoming an assistant at GCHS, he was the wrestling coach at Coolidge Junior High and president of the Granite City Wrestling Club.

He also has been the head coach of the Cadet National Team Illinois squad for the last three years. In fact, Kirgan learned of his hiring by Collinsville while he and his son, George, were in Fargo, N.D. for the U.S. Junior and Cadet National Championships.

PREP WRESTLING

"It's real exciting," said Kirgan, who wrestled for the Navy for four years. "They have a good program with a lot of potential. I'm looking forward to it. Anyone in the assistant position, I would imagine, would want to be a head coach with a good program."

The Collinsville High program is one of the prime coaching positions in the area. Collinsville High is one of the few wrestling programs with a junior high feeder system. The high school also benefits from the Collinsville Raiders wrestling club.

"Mark Bullington does a great job with kids club," Kirgan said. "I fully intend to be of some help with the kids club. I feel a kids club is so important that if they didn't have a program, I would initiate one myself."

Taking the position at Collinsville was a tough decision for Kirgan. His son, George, will be a junior this school year at Granite City. In each of his first two seasons at Granite, the younger Kirgan has qualified for the state tournament at 171 pounds.

George most likely will stay at GCHS for his final two years of high school.

"George has spent two years at Granite City and has been varsity for two years," Kirgan said. "That is where all of his friends are. That would be his choice to leave. I wouldn't ask him to do that. Naturally, I would love to have him but that is his decision. There's nothing wrong with that (Granite) program."

"There are good kids at Collinsville with good potential. Right now, I don't know the work ethic that George Portz had them go through. They will have to get used to my work ethic. I guarantee: I will work as hard as a coach as they work as athletes."

land is used to grooming assistants and having them move onto head coaching positions.

"I'm really happy for Allen and his family," Garland said. "This is an opportunity he has wanted to pursue, and I'm glad he's getting his chance. I wish him all the luck in the world and hope he does well — except when they wrestle against us."

Edwardsville hires Funkhouser

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

Tim Funkhouser is coming home.

The 26-year-old Funkhouser has been named the new varsity baseball coach at Edwardsville High School.

Funkhouser takes the baton from his former coach, Tom Pile, who stepped down at the end of the 1995 season after guiding the Tigers to a 40-0 record at the IHSA Class AA state championship.

Pile was the Tigers head coach for 10 seasons, during which he posted a 507-149 record, won two Class AA state titles (1990 and 1996) and finished as a runner-up in 1991. The Tigers put together a state-record 64-game winning streak in 1990-91.

Funkhouser was a senior captain on Pile's first state title team in 1990.

Funkhouser's father, Paul, was the EHS varsity baseball coach before Pile.

PREP BASEBALL

"It's a privilege to take the helm after what (Pile's) been through and done," Funkhouser said. "The big reason I applied was I grew up in the Tigers system. I was a bat boy from my dad back going to the days the Tigers played at Dottie Field. I always looked up to the players. I have a lot of Tigers pride."

Funkhouser comes to the Tigers program after playing four years at Western Illinois University, where he was a starter for 3 1/2 seasons, and after serving as the Triad varsity coach the last three seasons.

He guided the Knights to a 21-8 record and Mississippi Valley Conference championship this past spring. In three seasons, he posted a 55-32 record.

"I've talked with a couple of the (Triad) coaches and a couple of the players," Funkhouser said. "It was a decision I had to make if I was going to apply or not. It's tough to leave."

"I look forward to going back to where I learned the game. I feel very fortunate for the opportunity I had at Triad and that Mr. (Michael) Scroggins and the administration had given me the responsibility."

Funkhouser said it is not often a 23-year-old gets a head coaching position right out of college. However, that is how old he was when he took over the Knights baseball program.

If Funkhouser thought he had big spikes to fill as a 23-year-old skipper at Triad, he expects to have more pressure at Edwardsville.

"It's a good fit for me being young," Funkhouser said. "I look forward to the challenge. They have great facilities. They have had great

Paddlers Swim Club coach Celeste Furmanek will take her team into the drink to compete for medals against the best swimmers in the Metro East at the Southwest Illinois Swimming Association all-club finals on Aug. 1.

The event, which will be conducted at Summer Sport in Godfrey, is set for one week after the diving competition, which is scheduled for this Saturday at the Paddlers Swim Club.

"A lot of the kids do both diving and swimming," Furmanek said. "We want to give them a week off in between to catch their breath."

The Paddlers have a talented, experienced squad.

In the 15-18 age group, Robyn Slater will contend for medals in the girls 100 free, 200 IM and 100 fly. Matt Yetling will swim the same events for the boys.

In 13-14 girls, Jenna Cassidy will swim 100 back and IM while Julie Dombek will contend in the 50 free and 100 fly. Both will swim 100 free. Matt Dittman, who will be competing in diving this weekend, swims the 100 and 50 free and the 100 backstroke for 13-14 boys.

Rachel Clark, another diver, is the best hope for medal in the 11-12 girls 100 free, 100 IM and 50 fly. Justin Schooley swims the 100 free, 50 breast and 50 back for 11-12 boys.

Schooley's younger brother, Matt, swims the 100 free and the 100 IM with Jonathon Dombek.

"I think those two will do really well in the 9-10 boys," Furmanek said of Schooley and Dombek. "They have a lot of talent."

Virginia Hoff will take the 50 free, 25 back and 25 fly for the 8-and-under girls.

One of the most interesting cases is Aaron Stried, whose twin sister Ashley is a medal hopeful in diving.

"He's a neat kid," Furmanek said. "He and Ashley have very different personalities, but their strokes are kind of similar. In fact, I have three sets of twins on the team."

Furmanek likes her chances in the SWISA finals, but warns that handicapping the field is problematic at best.

"We lost one dual meet to Montclair (Edwardsville), but they have a lot of winter swimmers, which gives them a real edge," Furmanek said. "I think they are going to be one of the toughest teams in the competition, but you never really know what will happen until you get to the camp for weeks at a time, and there are other activities and events that take them away, so you don't get a very accurate reading until the end."

"I hope, and expect, that we'll at least finish in the top three, but it's really a toss up."

SPORTS

Gateway International Raceway is ready for busy summer

Mustangs and motorcycles are among highlights for the month of August at the Madison track

Special to the Journal

After a brief break in the action following the NHRA Sears Craftsman Nationals, the Gateway International Raceway drag strip will be the site of non-stop action for the rest of the summer.

It all starts this weekend, when the first of two Megabucks weekends kicks off Friday. The 1/4-mile all-class bracket race will feature the top cars from the region going for $5,000 first-place prizes on Friday and Saturday, and a $10,000 victory prize on Sunday. In all, more than $86,000 in prizes will be awarded.

Mike Pizzimenti of St. Louis scored the biggest win of his career, taking the $10,000 prize during the last Gateway Megabucks weekend of 1997. The Gateway E.T. Bracket Racing Series regular was unable to answer the bell for June's Super Megabucks competition with engine problems, but hopes to be ready to defend the home track's honor this time around.

"It was a dream come true to win that race last fall, with my family all there to see it, and it killed me to miss the $50,000 race," Pizzimenti said. "We put the new engine in the car last weekend and are working hard hoping to make it to the line for this Megabucks."

Gates open 8 a.m. each day, with time trials at 9 a.m. and eliminations set for 2 p.m. Entry fee for an entire weekend's racing is $125, and up to four entries per car may be purchased. Buybacks of $50 will be available only after the first round on Sunday. In addition to the regular Megabucks event, there will be special "no electronics" Pro category races, paying $1,000 to win on Saturday and $2,000 on Sunday. Entry fee for that event is $75 per day, or $100 for the weekend.

Spectator and crew admission is $15 per day, $25 for two days, and $30 for the weekend.

On Aug. 1-2, Henry Ford's handiwork will be on display during the third annual Vortech Engineering Gateway Rumble, presented by Muscle Mustangs & Fast Fords magazine.

Wheelstanding Mustangs from around the country will be snorting, shimmying and flying off the Gateway strip, featuring the 15-car Super Stallion shootout for 130-mph, eight-second muscle machines.

A year ago, Ed Baer of Hillsdale knocked off Ed Rice of Springfield, Tenn., who had mechanical troubles in the final after eliminating 1996 Super Stallion winner Paolo Silva of Toronto, Canada.

All three drivers will be back at Gateway this year, as will Doug Mangrum of Belts, Texas—Baer's chief rival. It was Baer who prevailed in their semifinal match a year ago, but Mangrum made history in 1997 by becoming the first Super Stallion Mustang to break the eight-second barrier. He also beat Baer to win the $10,000 World Ford Championship earlier this season at Bowling Green, Ky.

The Gateway Rumble for 9-10 second street-legal Mustang, an Open Comp all-Ford class and three levels of all-Ford bracket racing (Super Pro, Pro and Trophy) will be conducted, with bracket finals each day. Entry fees range from $25 to $150 for the Super Stallion category.

There will also be an All-Ford Car Show, Burnout Contest and other surprises. Spectator admission is $10 on Saturday, $12 on Sunday, or $20 for a three-day pass. Children 12-under are free with a paid admission.

On Aug. 8-9, the lid gets blown off as the 200-mph Comp Cams Pro Street machines of the National Muscle Car Association return as part of the Hot Rod Magazine Power Festival.

More than $150,000 in cash and contingency prizes will be on the line for the best Street and Nostalgia cars in the land competing in eight different categories, plus a full program of Pro and Super Pro bracket racing.

There will also be a Show-N-Shine competition, Swap Meet, Manufacturer's Midway, and People's Choice Awards given out during the show.

Gates open at 8 a.m. each day. Spectator admission is $15 for adults, and $5 for children 12-under.

The hot August action will finish with a two-wheeled bandwagon on Aug. 29-30, as the International Drag Bike Association conducts its first All-Motorcycle Weekend Event at Gateway.

More than 300 bikes, ranging from Street E.T. to the 190-mph Funny Bikes and Pro Mods, will take their first crack at the Gateway strip, with such stars as Jon Minnino, Billy Vose and Keith Lynn.

The weekend will also feature a Ride & Bike Show/CMA Bike Fest, a Wheelie Contest and a Performance Midway.

Gates open each day if the IDBA weekend at 8 a.m. with racing at 10 and eliminations starting Sunday at 1 p.m.

Spectator admission is $20 per day, $35 for a two-day pass. Children ages 6-12 get in for just $5.

Further more information on the racing action at Gateway, call 482-2400.

bunch of guys since I was 7, so they are used to it. They've always been really supportive.

The kids at school are usually just curious about it."

What about her opponents?

"Nothing bad has ever happened. Sometimes they'll say things to me, to try to get me off my game, or take runs at me. I just get up and skate away. I can knock most of them down, anyway."

Slater noted that it's a good time to be a female hockey player. This year in Japan, women's ice hockey made its debut as an Olympic sport, and the United States took home the gold.

"That was great. I have those on tape," Slater said. "It really put things in perspective for me."

"A couple of years ago, I went up to Wisconsin to this kind of camp, and it was the first time I had really seen more than two girls on the ice at the same time, on the same team. Then when the Olympics happened, it made me feel like I had something to shoot for. I think I have a chance to make it some day. At least, I hope so."

In the more immediate future, Robyn looks to attend college on a hockey scholarship, and is mulling over East Coast schools such as Boston College, Cornell, Harvard and Northeastern, where women's hockey is flourishing.

"I haven't really decided if I want to go that far away for college," she said.

She would like to study marine biology. "I'm good at science, and I love being in the water. That's why I swim."

How can someone be so good at such different sports, with seemingly very different demands, that are even played in two different states of matter for water?

"I think that swimming has really helped my skating, and vice versa," Slater said. "People that go out and skate casually don't realize how much leg strength it takes to play hockey, with everyone leaning on you all the time."

Slater will swim in the Southwestern Illinois Swimming Association all-club finals Aug. 2, and looks to repeat her first-place finish of a year ago in the 100-meter butterfly.

And that's not all.

"I just started playing tennis my sophomore year, and I wasn't very good at first," success and tradition. Coming off a 40-0 season, it is going to be hard to top that and there will be guys leaving (via graduation). We have to continue to develop the guys behind them."

Funkhouser expects to develop those players in the style of baseball that had made Edwardsville successful for years.

"From my experiences and what I watch, that aggressive style is a good fit for high school baseball," Funkhouser said. "It worked well for me at Triad. The aggressive style will persist. I look forward to the challenge ahead of me."

Slater said. "I could serve hard, but I couldn't get the ball in. Last year I was seeded second, and I hope to do even better this year."

Somewhere in the midst of all this, she has managed to land a spot on the Granite City High honor roll.

"I just love to play sports," Slater said. "It doesn't matter who it's against. It's what I've always done."

Granite City now bracing for loss of its assistant coach

Al Kirgan leaving for CHS, but heralded son, George, likely will finish out his career with Warriors

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

An excellent program is taking a hit, as assistant wrestling coach Al Kirgan is leaving Granite City to become head coach of the Collinsville wrestling team.

But Kirgan's son George, a two-time state qualifier, is expected to stay and wrestle at Granite City.

"I'm really happy for Allen and his family," says Granite City head coach Mike Garland. "This is an opportunity he has wanted to pursue, and I'm glad he's getting his chance. I wish him all the luck in the world and hope he does well except when they wrestle against us."

The team will have to adjust to life without Kirgan, who has been with Granite for two years and Coolidge Junior High for seven.

"We've had coaches leave before, and we just have to be careful not to dwell on the negative side," says Garland. "He'll be missed, but we have to replace him, tighten our belts, and move on."

Garland has served the wrestling program at Granite City for 16 years, 12 of them as head coach, with a record of 249-36-2.

He knows quality when he sees it and he sees it in the younger Kirgan.

"For George to be wrestling at that higher weight level, at 171 pounds, and qualify for state two years in a row, is really unprecedented," says Garland. "It usually takes until you're junior or senior year before you accomplish that."

Garland knows the secret to George's success is preparation.

"He's the hardest worker in the room. I'm going to have three captains this year, and George will probably be one of them," Garland said.

"When you've got a guy that gives that kind of effort, day after day, year after year, you want to reward him because it's a great example to the younger kids."

Garland is looking for summer work by the Warriors to pay off this winter.

"If they are doing the extra things now, lifting and working out, we have the potential for a good team," Garland said. "Championships are won from March to October, not November to February."

HOROSCOPE

WEDNESDAY, JULY 22
Today, the moon, caring Venus and feisty Mars travel with the sun on its last day in maternal Cancer. The strong, nurturing aspect of Cancer's profile may have you thinking of family and loved ones instead of work today. Pick up the phone, and let them know you care; it may help get you back on track and enable you to focus on work.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (July 22). You'll feel fantastic about your accomplishments this year. Astounding results stem from more concentrated efforts on your part. A romance with a younger person is likely in the next three weeks. A Sagittarius or Scorpio has special power over your heart. Marriage is possible in January. A small business started in March succeeds. New additions to the family come in early 1999.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Be firm, and try not to worry about being everyone's friend.

Vatican angels visiting

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

Angels.

The word conjures images of small youthful figures, adorned with wings and often bearing musical instruments.

It's just one of dozens of images chronicled in a special exhibition at the Saint Louis Art Museum. "Angels from the Vatican," a display featuring hundreds of works, some never before available for public view, runs through Aug. 2.

The collection offers an unprecedented view of more than 100 pieces from the vast Vatican archives. A variety of art forms captures the heavenly creatures in their many roles, including messenger, consoler and divine inspirer.

The display is a history of the beings that covers their origins not only in Christian theology but also within Assyrian, Etruscan, Greek and Roman times. That history spans from the 9th Century B.C. to modern times.

Angels were recognized as part of the Christian church by the Council of Nicea in 325 A.D. These ideas were furthered by the teachings of St. Thomas Aquinas. His lectures from the University of Paris in 1259 along with his other writings are the foundation of the Catholic church's approach to angels.

The display gives examples of this documented history, with angels that are depicted on pottery from the Etruscans, engraved on mirrors from Roman times, or painted in oils during the 16th Century Renaissance.

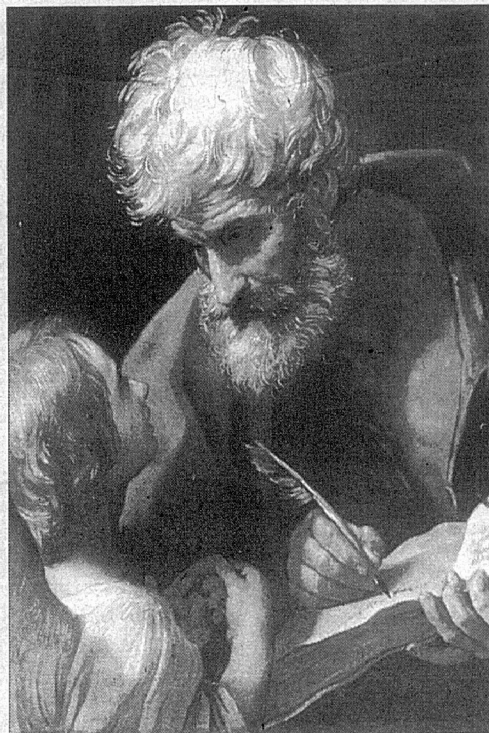

Sculptures, tapestries, frescoes and elaborate metal works of silver, bronze or gold pay homage to the beings as they torture Job, comfort Christ or crown the Virgin Mary on her ascension into Heaven. The angels and their forms are as varied as the works themselves.

Restaurant, hotel chains take away local flavor

By Kevin Carbery
Correspondent

Kevin Carbery

At this point in time, you can hit the open road and eat the same food, imbibe the same drinks and listen to the same types of radio stations across the country as you do at home.

It's kind of sad, really. What has happened has been called the "homogenization" of America. Where you used to have local color, you now have all-too-familiar chains of businesses. Seeing your favorite restaurant or hotel can be comforting to a traveler, but we have lost something to gain this kind of peace of mind.

About 25 years ago, when I was a kid, my family drove through the South on a trip to Florida. Among the surprises we found was that grits were served with breakfast at every restaurant we patronized. This did not happen in St. Louis. I learned to like grits if the serving was drenched in butter.

Also, only a short time ago, you had people on the radio who personified their local audiences. Today, you hear the same "crazy deejays" everywhere. The guys in Tallahassee pull the same stunts as the ones in Denver or Newark or St. Louis. It makes you want to pop an album in the car stereo and not bother to even listen for the weather reports as you buzz down the interstates.

For this week's trivia quiz, the topic is touring America. There are still some unique things to see and experience in this country, if you look for them.

1. Mud Island is a sightseeing spot in which city?
2. The world's shortest St. Patrick's Day parade is held where in the Midwest?
3. The Oscar Getz Museum of Whiskey History is located in which state?
4. What is the largest aquarium in the world?
5. Shenandoah National Park is in which state?
6. Yellowstone National Park stretches into which three states?

7. Jamestown, Williamsburg and Yorktown are connected by what roadway?

8. What city calls itself "The Gateway to Florida?"

9. What city is the oldest continuously occupied European settlement in North America?

10. Which state is home to the Barbering Hall of Fame?

Answers: 1. Memphis, Tenn. 2. Maryville, Mo. 3. Kentucky, in Bardstown. 4. The Living Seas Aquarium at EPCOT Center, near Orlando, Fla. 5. Virginia. 6. Wyoming, Montana and Idaho. 7. The Colonial Parkway. 8. Valdosta, Ga. My family made numerous rest stops in this town over the years on our way to Daytona. 9. St. Augustine, Fla. 10. Ohio, in the city of Canal Winchester. Here you can see all the great contributions to the barbering profession.

Kevin Carbery can be heard as a regular on "The Trivia Coast-To-Coast Show" from 8 to 11 p.m. Sundays on KMOX-AM (1120).

Fair to include model train display

By Cheryl A. Moody
Staff writer

Model train enthusiasts may want to chug on down to the St. Clair County Fair next week to take in the Mississippi Valley N Scales Train Club display.

"Different size trains are assigned letters," club President Glenn Koproske said.

The letter N indicates a smaller type of model train. Belleville resident and club member Gene Richard said the train cars are only 2 1/2 to 4 inches long.

"We're the smallest popular car around," Richard said. "The engine is about the size of your big finger."

The trains are built with 2-by-4-foot-wide modules that have three separate tracks. The modules interconnect to form one big model. The club adheres to the standards of a national organization called N-Trax.

Train sets are enhanced by scenery and animation. Koproske said campfires, an operating lock and dam and water and snow scenes create true to life scenes.

Richard said he designed an Ozark farm scene taken over by oil fields. Abandoned houses, cattle, horses and oil tanks are part of his display.

"Everybody is a little kid at heart," Richard said. "It doesn't matter if you're 25, 35, or 55, trains always fascinate people."

"It's not just a hobby, it's a way of life," Koproske said. The model trains will be set up in approximately a 10-by-40-foot area 40 inches off the floor inside the exhibition hall. Although the club has had up to 15 trains operating simultaneously, about four will operate at the same time at the fair.

The club displays the N Scales at other events, including the Great American Train Show at the Cervantes Convention Center in January and the Greater St. Louis Metro Train Show at Belle Clair Exhibition Hall.

For information on how to become a member of the Mississippi Valley N Scales, call (314) 225-2405.

Music Fete headed for Cahokia Courthouse

By Jason White
Staff writer

Put away those synthesizers and grab your banjo — the seventh annual Old Time Music Fete is returning to the historic Cahokia Courthouse.

The fete, also known as America's No. 1 Porch Music Festival, features diverse styles of acoustic music from noon to 6 p.m. July 26 at the Cahokia Courthouse State Historic Site, one block south of the intersection of Route 3 and Camp Jackson Road.

The fete got its nickname because performers play on the south gallery, or porch, of the courthouse, a French colonial structure built in 1740.

As always, the festival features bands from both sides of the river.

"The lineup includes some new talent, as well as performers who have played for us in the past," fete organizer and Cahokia Courthouse Site Manager Molly McKenzie said.

Once again, the headliner is Fiddlin' Katie Kerkhove and Rockwood Junction. Kerkhove, 13, of Rockwood, Ill., has performed at the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville.

Another popular performer is George Portz and the Friends of Bluegrass. Portz, an O'Fallon resident, is the nation's "open" fiddle champion.

In addition to the non-stop music on the main stage, a jam session area will be located at the opposite end of the site. Musicians of all ages and skill levels can play together for themselves and the public.

Another area will be set aside for "Kid's Stuff," a free chaperoned children's activity area with kite-making and other crafts.

er crafts.

The Cahokia Volunteer Fire Department will fire up the grill and cook scores of bratwurst and hamburgers that can be washed down with Pepsi products. For desert, visitors can treat themselves to Ted Drewe's frozen custard.

The fete is supported by a grant from Ameritech, the Madison County Arts Council and the Illinois Arts Council, a state agency. Additional funding is provided by the Illinois Historic Preservation Agency.

The fete is co-sponsored by KDHX 88.1 FM, PepsiCo, Mercier Spring Water and the Fete du Bon Vieux Temp Committee.

Wood Bakery tops in St. Clair

By Mark Hodapp
Staff writer

As Janice Bickell of O'Fallon sees it, her boss is the best in the business.

"George Wood is a very fair individual," said Bickell, who has worked as a store clerk at Wood Bakery in O'Fallon for the past 23 years.

According to a recent Journal reader poll, Wood Bakery also was voted as the best bakery in St. Clair County.

Those poll results don't surprise Bickell.

"We have the best products," she said. "And we have good bakers, who don't cheat on their product."

The aroma of yeast, chocolate and freshly-baked bread prevails as you enter the bakery on 115 W. First St. in O'Fallon.

Wood's chocolate glazed and cheese-Danish doughnuts are probably the most requested items, Bickell said.

"I personally can't pick my favorite because I enjoy them all," she said. "And I just bag the doughnuts and take the dough."

Wood started the bakery 48 years ago.

"I always wanted to be in business," he said.

Among Wood's many clients are 40 area filling and convenience stations, which sell his doughnuts, coffee breads and pastries.

Each morning, Wood — who was born and raised only about two blocks away from the bakery — comes to work at 5 a.m.

"I know I wouldn't have to do that," he said.

But he jokingly said he'll stay in the business until he dies.

"I have very good employees," he said. "And I like dealing with the people."

But maybe most important of all, Wood said he enjoys the business.

"It's like the old story, you get into to something that you like doing," he said.

Malo's in Belleville and Swansea Pastries tied for second best and National Bakery in Fairview Heights was voted third best, according to the poll.

Financial rewards come to those who follow through. An invitation to a special social event arrives in the mail.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Big money springs from ideas that capture human interest. Constancy and moderation are hard to achieve in love affairs, but when you do achieve them, life is bliss. Reserve your close friendship for those who deserve it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Competitive spirit is at large. If you can improve on your own high standards, you'll continue to be in high demand. Your diplomacy is appreciated in a tense situation. A loved one wants all of you.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Your idealism is like a magnet for those with doubts. Love is strong — someone wants you to know how special you are. Income arises from an unlikely source. Taurus needs your affectionate attention.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You are more ambitious today and will gather support as a direct result. If a boss asks for extra effort, deliver it. Your reward is on the horizon. Splurge on a purchase. You win at games.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Pursue a better working relationship with someone difficult. Partnerships will pay off. Go after what you've been holding back from. Financial remuneration is coming for a prior good deed.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). An admiration from afar turns into a close relationship. An investment that starts out as a loser turns into something more innovative and lucrative. A new lover may not have staying power.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You are the star player, and you will deal with the good and the bad that spring from this role. Your ability to sense what a friend needs is what keeps this person coming back for more. Your lucky numbers are 4, 31 and 39.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Show patience, as others are tense. Stay out of a family argument — this one will continue through the years! Keep your time flexible, as job opportunities will arise. Your heroic qualities inspire a sweetheart.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). A loved one needs help; try to solve your own problems before jumping into someone else's. Fight the urge to stay home, as you will meet someone one while on the town this evening. Romance hangs in the air.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Assert yourself at work. (See JILLSON, Page 7D)

•Angels

Despite their stereotypical image, angels do not always appear as cherubic beings with two wings and rosy cheeks. Conversely, some have been depicted with no wings while others have as many as six.

They can also appear in human form, indistinguishable from earthly people.

In an oil by 17th Century artist Guido Reni, St. Matthew appears almost to take dictation from a childlike angel as he composes his gospel.

A foot-high golden statue shows St. Michael the Archangel vanquishing a dragon.

A life-size sculpture c. 1500 captures a more human-looking angel in white marble.

The latter is a mix of human features and the Greek god Eros who may be one of the earliest inspirations for the Christian image of angels.

Not surprisingly, the show has generated tremendous interest because of the rare glimpses of both history and artistic beauty that it contains.

Tickets are generally a sell-out for the display, which is open Tuesday through Sunday. With little more than a week left to the angels display, demand for tickets is bound to be high.

It is best to call ahead or to buy tickets days in advance.

For more information, call the Museum at (314) 721-0072. Or, to order tickets by telephone, call MetroTix at (314) 534-1111. Tickets are $10 each and subject to a service charge through MetroTix. They may also be purchased at the Museum in advance or as available without a service fee.

A special audiotour is also part of each paid admission.

'Mulan' unlike legend

The new film "Mulan" is not faithful to the 2,000-year-old legend on which it is based, and gives the wrong picture of the way women were treated in China, say Chinese-Americans.

"There is one point (in the movie) that is very, very misleading," Doris Chu, director of the Chinese Culture Institute in Boston, told the Boston Herald.

"When (Mulan) did something to save her army, instead of being proud, she was afraid of being punished by death. This is totally opposite of what history showed."

"There were real women who contributed a great deal to the country as warriors, and history praised them," said Chu, an art historian and playwright.

"There were (female) poets, writers, artists, warriors and monarchs in history. They were admired and respected," she said.

In Disney's animated film, Mulan is a young girl who doesn't know how to use a sword or shoot a cannon, but joins the army to protect her sick father.

However in the legend, said Raymond Lee, Mulan was trained as a soldier by her father, wins battles and is given the title of general by the emperor.

"In the story, she was really a woman warrior," said Lee, 72, a retired chemical engineer who runs Foundation for Better Persons in suburban Medford.

"Her father raised her like a son and taught her the military maneuvers. She was a commander. She was really capable," he said.

"The lesson of the (original) story was about piety, about honoring your parents," said Carmen Chan, director of development at the Boston Women's Fund.

"The dad was weak and fragile, and Mulan took that on as an obligation. It was more about that than about becoming a hero," she said.

Le Min Mo, a Shanghai-born storyteller in Cambridge, praised Disney for accurately depicting Chinese clothes and the cultural tradition of honoring family and ancestors.

However she asks why authentic Chinese music wasn't

Fights pain for
'Zorro'

Antonio Banderas' sword fighting scenes in "The Mask of Zorro" were often painfully real.

"If you are fighting with real swords for one hour in the morning, you're feeling great and focused," he said. "After 14 hours working, you start being a little less focused. I think I was bleeding practically every day we did sword fights."

The Spanish-born Banderas thinks it's about time that a Spaniard played the hero who fights oppression in Spanish-ruled Old California.

The role "has never been acted or performed by a Spanish guy," he told the Los Angeles Times in a story published recently.

used. "What is going on here? Not a single musical tune was Chinese. The music had nothing to do with the Chinese culture," she said.

She also was disappointed that Mulan is slender and petite, like heroines in other Disney films.

"I'm appalled that Disney wouldn't try anything new. Every single girl in Disney movies looks like a Barbie doll. Do they have to reinforce those stereotypes of what women look like?"

"If she was a soldier and a fighter, she would have to be a little more muscular," she said.

Chu said many American-born Asian writers have misrepresented the roles of women in China.

"The mistake is not only found in this film," she said. "It's very, very wrong, and I don't know how we can correct it."

"I am a scholar, and I take these things seriously. I want people to look at portraying a culture and a people with some accuracy," she said.

'Lethal 4:' Bigger

At the beginning of "Lethal Weapon 4," Mel Gibson and Danny Glover encounter a maniac in a bulletproof space suit who is destroying a city block with a flamethrower and a steel-piercing weapon.

Gibson devises a crazy scheme to distract the marauder, who is dispatched to a fiery death. In the melee, a huge gasoline truck is blown 50 feet into the air.

Gibson and Glover go fishing with Joe Pesci on Glover's boat, which is rammed by a large freighter carrying smuggled Chinese immigrants. A firefight breaks out, causing an explosion on the ship's bow. Glover's boat sinks, and the swimmers are threatened by a shark. The ship runs aground.

All this in the first 15 minutes of the movie.

Bigger, bigger, bigger. That's the formula for producer Joel Silver and producer-director Richard Donner in the fourth adventure of the two disparate L.A. cops, Martin Riggs and Roger Murtaugh.

Gibson, the wild man willing to try any scheme, and Glover, the cautious older partner, make the ideal team, despite their sometimes tedious bickering. They interact smoothly, their male bond having been established three movies ago.

Curiously, the formula works. Most sequels bring diminishing returns, like "Batman" and the final "Godfather." With "Lethal Weapon 4," you recognize the artifice, but can't help being swept up by it. The stunts are staggering, the jokes funny, the human stories plausible.

And this time the Chinese are the villains.

Chinese generals, in cahoots with the underworld, have been smuggling their citizens into the United States at $35,000 a head, packed into steerage holds. The enforcer is the deadly young Wa Sing Ku (Chinese martial arts star Jet Li in a chilling portrait). You can bet on a climactic battle between him and Gibson.

A "Lethal Weapon" can't be all explosions and mayhem. Screenwriter Channing Gibson (no relation) — with story by Jonathan Lemkin, Alfred Gough and Miles Millar — has fashioned a busy substory to interrupt the violence.

Gibson and Rene Russo are expecting a baby, but he balks at marriage. Glover is upset because his daughter is pregnant, and he doesn't know the father. Another detective, Chris Rock, is secretly married to the daughter, but neither Glover nor Gibson like him. Glover takes in an immigrant family, who are wanted by the Chinese hoodlums.

Donner has a talent for conveying energy through his actors. Even in the fourth round, Gibson and Glover manage to keep their characters fresh. Despite her screen pregnancy, Russo takes part in some of the action.

Pesci adds needed lightness as the would-be private eye. Rock is a worthy addition to the stock company as the motor-mouth cop.

The Warner Bros. release is rated R for much violence. Running time: 2 hours.
